THE SECOND WEEK OF ADVENT

This week is dedicated to peace. There are a lot of things we could write about slowing down in the busyness of this season, but other people have already done a better job writing them than we could. Instead, perhaps it is worth considering the things that make for peace in our relationships. How do we address the wounds and tensions found there? Perhaps this Advent is the time for earnest reflection, repentance, and prayer, in pursuit of the reconciliation that can lead to peace.

A SAINT FOR THE WEEK

St. Colette of Corbie lived in France in the 1400s, just before St. Joan of Arc. She was called by God to help restore the Franciscan Orders to their early observance of the rule. She spent the beginning of her religious life living as an anchoress, and when God called her to leave her anchorhold, she was not happy. Over time she found true peace always comes from following the will of God.

“My Eyes, I have filled with Jesus upon whom I have fixed them at the Elevation of the Host at Mass and I do not wish to replace Him with any other image.”
